“Resilience Library”

The Resilience Library

Supports the Southeast Asian Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies in promoting integrated approach in all their activities, in order to strengthen community safety and resilience through regional learning, sharing and collaboration.

Southeast Asian National Societies

Taking An Integrated Approach

Means ensuring close collaboration among different sectors (disaster management, health and organizational development), together with the cross-cutting components of gender and diversity, youth and volunteers, disaster law, advocacy and humanitarian diplomacy, migration, climate change adaptation, etc. to support community safety and resilience.

What is Resilience Library?

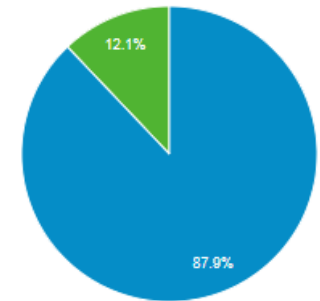

- A platform for knowledge and expertise sharing, and cooperation
- Created in 2012, hosted and managed by IFRC Bangkok
- Promotes sharing of best practices and knowledge
- Encourages active contribution by National Societies
- Readership goes beyond Southeast Asia and RCRC

The screenshot displays the website interface for the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies' Resilience Library. The page is titled "Sexual and Gender Based Violence" and includes a breadcrumb trail: "You are here: Resilience Library > Gender and Diversity > Sexual and Gender Based Violence". The main content area features a large image of two people in a rural setting, with the caption "The Regional Perspective". Below the image, there is a paragraph of text discussing gender and diversity sensitive humanitarian action. To the right, there is a sidebar with a "Learning platform" button and a "Contact" button. The contact information provided is: e-mail: Christina Haneef, Gender and Diversity Senior Officer at christina.haneef@ifrc.org. The sidebar also includes a link to the "32nd International Conference Resolution on Sexual and Gender Based Violence: Joint Action on Prevention and Response".

How do we better utilize it?

- To harness National Societies' expertise to increase the profile of ASEAN NS
- To further enhance knowledge management with ASEAN counterparts
- National Societies takes more active role in sharing and storing contents
