Objective of the project:

to build capacity of the PRC to better understand disaster law and the role of the Red Cross to influence the national laws and policy making processes related to Disaster Risk Reduction (DRR) and International Disaster Response Law (IDRL), with links to other technical areas.
Key activities

• Training and capacity building for PRC on disaster law
  - National Level and Regional
• Peer to Peer exchange
• Development of IEC materials
• Advocacy is about persuading other people or groups to act differently, to make changes, whether in policy, practice, systems or structures to a particular humanitarian issue.
Advocacy aims not only to create awareness; it aims to achieve critical changes (in both people’s behaviour and government policy) that will reduce the risk of disasters.
Key Messages

• Advocacy is about speaking for others, working with others and supporting others to speak for themselves.

• Advocacy can bring communities together and encourage them to respond to external threats.
Why is Advocacy Important in DRR?

• Advocacy aims not only to create awareness; it aims to achieve critical changes (in both people’s behaviour and government policy) that will reduce the risk of disasters.
Doing advocacy alone is like a bird flying with one wing!
Key Messages

Advocacy is best done by a team!
Maraming Salamat Po!
