Migration Practice

- Source, transit and destination country:
- Push and pull factors motivate Nepalese to migrate.
- Remittances represent an important resource for the Nepalese government.
- Nepal is perceived as a source country for cheap labour across the world.
- Choosing legal and illegal channels to reach destination countries.
- Supporting family for livelihood and education for children.
- Systemized culture and with social status playing a key role.

Key Challenges

• lengthy government procedures/policy/guidelines
• Drastic rise in migration making it difficult to monitor
• Labour migration to India not considered / no records
• Political instability / weak government mechanism
• Geographical terrain / VDC too far out
• Recruitment agencies owned or functioning under high profile political leaders / businessmen / govt employees / source of income for political parties
• Insurance for all migrant workers before departure
• Absence of proper data management system within govt / non govt agencies
Lessons learned

• Coordination amongst govt, security forces and stakeholders requires strengthening
• Education/ awareness raising to civil society at all levels is required
• Open border between Nepal and India
• Lack of strong mechanism in rescue /repatriation of undocumented migrant works
• Absence of bi- or multilateral agreements between sending, receiving and transit countries
• Strengthen NNSM for safer migration
Next steps

- Wider geographical coverage
- Stronger advocacy messages for the government, business house, corporate sectors, civil society
- Stricter laws ensuring safety of departing migrant workers/ punishing recruiting agencies for non compliance of govt regulations
- Provide longer term sustainable livelihood approaches: Right based approach, Sustainable livelihood approach, Social research for migrant workers (including missing), victims of human trafficking
- Appropriate, safe and dignified settlement for victims of human trafficking and appropriate data management system
