Indonesian Red Cross (PMI) Improves Capacity of WASH Team for Response to Banjarnegara’s Quake

To improve the capacity of WASH (Water Sanitation, and Hygiene Promotion) team personnel, the Indonesian Red Cross held a field water service simulation training on sanitation and hygiene promotion. Located in Salatiga City of Central Java, the training was attended by 37 participants from 14 provinces throughout Indonesia during 23-26 April 2018. The WASH team was part of the response operation in the aftermath of the 4.4-magnitude earthquake that struck Banjanegara district on 18 April. With more than 4,000 residents having to leave their homes behind, the WASH team was mobilized to help meet the needs of the residents for water and sanitation. Click here to read full story by PMI.

Indonesian Red Cross Youth Trained to Become Pioneers in Promoting Hygiene

The Indonesian Red Cross (PMI) conducted a leadership training for the Red Cross Youth of the Banjarnegara district with the aim of building their capacity to become agents of change and pioneers in promoting hygiene, disaster preparedness, and hygiene behaviour in school. Head of PMI for Banjarnegara district, Edi Purwanto, said the Indonesian Red Cross Youth Forum is an organization managed by PMI in each district and is expected to be able to contribute, positive participation and activities to assist PMI duties and functions within the schools. Singapore

Singapore Red Cross to Organize Youth Humanitarian Camp

The Singapore Red Cross is inviting youth in the region to attend the three-day, two-night Youth Humanitarian Camp (YHLC) 2018 during 21-23 June 2018. At the camp, youth participants will be introduced to the world of humanitarian action and trained to become future humanitarian leaders. Incorporating simulations, role plays, activities and discussions, the camp exposes them to various social issues that will challenge youths’ mental and physical norms. In addition to building their leadership skills, youth participants will also acquire useful life-saving and evacuation skills, as well as explore humanitarian law and participate in Raid Cross activity (a role-playing simulation activity). As expected, the ongoing La Niña is weakening. We expect a full transition to Neutral conditions during this March-May season. During the April-June season there is an enhanced chance of above-normal rainfall in the Philippines, parts of southeast Asia, and some countries in East Africa (see map for details). Below-normal rainfall is moderately likely in parts of southern South America, western U.S., northeastern Brazil, central Asia, and Indonesia. For countries that have a rainy season between April and June, please check the forecast map to see if it is likely the rainy season will likely be wetter or drier than usual. If you would like further guidance on how to interpret this forecast, please contact the IFRC Helpdesk at ifrc@iri.columbia.edu The seasonal forecast below reflects the best available information of likely shifts in rainfall in the coming 3 months. This seasonal forecast should be closely monitored in conjunction with short-term, local forecasts from your national meteorological agency, which can provide more detailed information on what extreme events might happen during this season.
